

A Message from the Rabbi, November 2017

Dear Congregants,

As the saying goes, variety is the spice of life. I always strive to diversify what we do at our wonderful synagogue, and it is always a pleasure to explore the extraordinary history and accomplishments of the Jewish people.

Among our many activities and programs I want to bring to your attention a tremendous opportunity to learn more about supporting our beloved country Israel.

As advertised in this bulletin, we are expecting Irv Elenberg on Friday, November 10, at 7:30 p.m.

Our special speaker currently serves as the Mid-Atlantic Regional Director for the American Technion Society (ATS). His former positions have included Managing Director, Financial Resource Development for the Jewish Federation of Greater Washington, Assistant Major Gifts Director for the Georgetown University Medical Center, Director of Financial Development for the American Red Cross, and Regional Director for B'nai B'rith International.

He will talk about the Technion - Israel Institute of Technology and will share with us all his expertise as to how this marvelous institution helps Israel survive and thrive.

The Technion is home to several important centers, including the Asher Space Research Institute, the Technion Integrated Cancer Center and the Russel Berrie Nanotechnology Institute.

I hope you can take advantage of this insightful presentation to learn about the Technion and how we in the United States can support Israel's technological cutting edge scientific research.

Wishing you and yours a Happy Thanksgiving,

Rabbi Severine Sokol
